Cognitive-Communication Disorders Following Acquired Brain Injury

Statement of Need: BIA-MA has developed, in collaboration with experts in the field of brain injury, an Acquired Brain Injury Clinical Continuing Education Series, designed to enhance the knowledge, expertise, and skills of clinicians, program administrators, case managers, rehabilitation and other professionals providing supports and services to individuals with ABI and their families.

It is BIA-MA's goal and hope that this series will serve to promote the development of clinically informed programs and services, which will in turn, enhance positive outcomes and the quality of life for persons living with an acquired brain injury.

Financial Support: There is no commercial support associated with this educational activity.
